Shute Shelve Hospital

A CHARITY event which takes underprivileged children from Bristol for a day out at the seaside has been cancelled because of a lack of drivers.

The Bristol Taxi Charity, which has been running since 1927, has taken thousands of children from the city for a fun day out to the coast over the years.

The charity was initially launched to take very ill children from Bristol for treatment to the Shute Shelve Hospital on the A38 near Shipham, and then expanded to run the children's event.

But this year, for the first time in 50 years, the day out – scheduled for July 6 – has had to be cancelled after organisers struggled to find volunteer drivers.
