

Glossary entry

Living Educational Theory Research: (with upper case) is the conceptual framework that a professional practitioner researcher uses to distinguish their own living-educational-theory (with lower case, hyphenated) as contributing to Living Educational Theory Research,

Further explanation

Living Educational Theory Research, unlike traditional theories, does not provide a general explanation that can be used to derive a valid explanation of an individual's explanation of their educational influences in learning. Individuals generate their own valid, evidence-based and values-laden explanations of educational influences in learning, using their unique constellation of values as their explanatory principles.
