

GWERNYMYNYDD NEWSLETTER

JULY 9/

Could we ask all parents to warn their children to STAY AWAY from the building site on Swan Lane. It is a very interesting and tempting place to youngsters, especially in the long summer holidays, but it is also a potential death trap. Have fun in the holidays but PLEASE PLAY SAFELY.

Gwernymynydd W.I. July meeting. The holiday season obviously starts early in Gwernymynydd since only 18 members attended the July meeting. Final arrangements were made for the seven ladies who have offered to help in the tea tent at the National Eisteddfod on August 6th, and Miss Lilian Hughs will be taking Mrs Hilda Hemming's place on the quiz team on July 3th at the W.I. quiz, first round. Pam Brooks-Jones gave a short report last months T.G.N. which was held for the first time in the N.E.C. Birmingham. Following tea and biscuits Mrs Kate Morgan from Sychdyn presented her "Start Stitching" packs of needle work which, she guarentees are designed purely for the faint-hearted who aim they never finish anything..... she promised to come back before Christmas to see our finished products, lets show her we can do it!!! Mrs Hilda Hemmings won the first prize in the competition which was for a piece of needlework, with Miss Lilian Roberts in second place and Mrs Elizabeth Williams third. Elizabeth also won the raffle. Our next meeting is on September 2nd, when Mrs G. Harvey will tell us (and show us) all about Japan. The competition is Origami, which I am told is the art of paper folding- so why not practice on this newsletter while you have got it in your hand. Have a lovely summer break. Pam Brooks-Jones.

BINGO. Don't forget the next Bingo Session which is on Tuesday 30th July at the village centre. A warm welcome is extended to all as usual, we will be having another session on the 27th August too.

There will be no newsletter in August, but please leave any news for publication in the next edition at 1, Haes-y-Wern, by Tuesday 10th September. Have a happy safe and (after the last few rather moist weeks) sunny August.
