NATURAL BURIAL

- What is Natural Burial?

Natural burial is the term given to a burial area that creates habitat for wildlife or preserves existing habitats. Burials take place using a biodegradable coffin or shroud.

- Why choose Natural Burial?

Natural burial is open to anyone; we welcome people of all faiths or none. Natural burial is ecologically sound and nourishes the earth. You will have plenty of time for the ceremony, and you may visit the site at any time in the future. Some may choose to have a service at a place of worship followed by interment at Atlantic Rest Natural Burial, and some may choose to have a small gathering at the graveside, where words of comfort may be spoken or read. You may use the services of a minister, celebrant or humanist.

- How does it work?

The format is up to you, but if you'd like help planning the interment, please ask and we will be able to guide you. The graves are not marked with traditional headstones, though the site of each grave is carefully plotted and recorded with biodegradable plaques available. You will not be responsible for any maintenance. A percentage of each burial fee will be placed in a safe-guarded fund and will secure the future management of the site.

- Trees & Memorial Plaques?

When choosing to be buried in the woodland area you can choose to have a tree on your final resting spot. You can choose from our list of native trees including : Alder Buckthorn, Cornish Elm, Crab Apple, Guelder Rose, Hawthorn, Hazel, Holly, Rowan, Spindle, Wayfaring and Wild Cherry.

All trees will be coppiced, this means that they will periodically be cut in order to allow all trees to flourish. All graves will have wildflower seeds scattered upon them.

Memorial Plaques are available - these consist of a slice of tree trunk and contain the first and last name and years of birth and death. You may also choose from one of the designs which are: foxglove, hare, primula, sheep, birds, a bee or a brimstone butterfly. These are intended to degrade in time back to the earth.
