Wildflowers...

You may remember from our last newsletter that we had sown a mass of wildflower seed just in from the gate. We are pleased to report that so far this year - we have seen poppies, corncockle, yellow rattle, the tiniest forget-me-nots & meadow buttercup. We hope there are more to come.

We welcome to rest...

So far in 2025 we have welcomed:

Janette (Ju), Doreen T, Cara & Bill, Barbara, John C, Trevor, Colin C, John G, Daniel, Theresa, Andrew, Steve, Susan & Patrick.

Welcome all, to your forever home.

Refresh of signage & benches...

As some of you may have noticed, our benches have all come of age at the same time. We are in the process of renewing our benches. We have so far completed two out of the total. Some have undergone slight modifications.

We have also been refreshing our signage - look out for these on your next visit.

Wildlife cameras...

We now have two wildlife cameras that are periodically in the woods. We have seen quite a variety of visitors so far.

We've had deer (one looked like a unicorn, as it only had one antler!), hares, squirrels, a fox, a jay & some domestic cats!

ANBG (Association of Natural Burial Grounds) meeting...

In June, Tom and I ventured over to Devon! A slightly different border to the one we usually cross. We went to a nearby site at Sampford Courtenay. It was positive as always to meet with other site operators and talk through the various goings on of the funeral world. Legislation has been rapidly changing of late and we need to keep up to date.

It was also lovely to visit Beer Cross again; it was very new when we last went there. Now there is a beautiful canopy of trees and so many wildflowers.

Coppicing time...

As we announced in our last newsletter, we will be giving a coppice to the 'coppice'. We said that the date was to be confirmed. This will happen later this year.

Please remember that the trees will grow again; coppicing is a traditional woodland management technique that dates back to the Stone Age!

until next time....very best wishes to all.
